ORDER

The learned counsel for the petitioner, after arguing the matter at some length, has sought some more time to assist the Court regarding the question whether principle of consistency would survive if the basic order is set aside and the bails of the co-accused are recalled. The learned trial court has sent a report wherein it has been stated that the two respondents in Criminal Petition No.90-K of 2024 have absconded themselves and therefore, their non-bailable warrants have been issued. Moreover, proceedings under section 87 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 ('Cr. P.C.') have also been initiated against them. The respondent in the connected petition i.e. 99-K of 2024 is in attendance and he has stated that he does not intend to engage a counsel. However, to his extent the bail granted by the High Court has not been misused. The office is directed to re-list the petition for 23rd June, 2025.
