ORDER

Yahya Afridi, CJ. We have gone through the impugned order and note that the High Court has aptly dealt with the factual and legal matter warranting no interference. As far as the legal objection raised by the learned counsel for the petitioner that no material supporting the claim of the respondent-wife as far as gold ornaments are concerned were not brought on record is belied by the fact that the respondent-wife rendered her own affidavit specifically mentioning the purchase of the said gold ornaments and carrying the same with her to Canada. This was further reiterated by her in her statement under oath where she even exhibited the receipts of gold ornaments as were stated in her affidavit.

2. We have also noted that the petitioner has till date not challenged the ex-parte judgment and decree passed against him by seeking setting aside the same and instead has moved an appeal there against which according to the record was aptly dealt with and decided by the courts below. Therefore, this petition is dismissed and leave to appeal is refused.
